Global hosts Behind-The-Wheel Trainer Skills Course

Global Paratransit Inc. (GPI) recently hosted a five day Behind-The-Wheel Course for their Road Supervisors and Behind the Wheel Trainers.

Access Services' Operations Service Monitors Garrett Rodriguez and Jimmy Flores had an opportunity to take part in the class. Safety and Compliance consultant Frank Ciccarella and GPI's Safety Manager Cyndy Lancy conducted the event by teaching participants how to perform the fundamentals of safe driving and provide customer service etiquette.

A blend of classroom instruction and hands-on training was utilized to review the concepts of defensive driving and emergency equipment use, as participants would eventually demonstrate what they learned by navigating throughout the Los Angeles area. With assistance of the instructors, the course proved to be mentally engaging, as participants were challenged to display ideal practices such as frequent mirror and lane scanning, proper mobility device securement, and the ability to analyze and motivate others in operator safety.

While the course was a valuable tool to develop one's skill set, it also focused on making sure that attendees would be able to communicate and teach others. Overall, the program served as an essential reminder of the role safety plays in the transit industry and the standards that future professionals should aspire to.

Access implements Program to assist Small Businesses

Small businesses face many challenges today. A few of these challenges include competing head-to-head with larger businesses and the cash flow requirements needed to successfully compete for larger contracts.

Access understands this and has implemented a small business preference program that helps level the playing field for small businesses by providing eligible small businesses with a five percent preference when the bid on Access contracts.

A five percent preference allows Access to reduce the amount bid by a small business for evaluation purposes, but still pay the full amount bid by the small business. Many times, the five percent preference is the difference between winning and losing a bid. The Small Business Preference Program or SBPP applies to most purchases less than $75,000. This program is intended to stimulate economic development in the local marketplace by increasing participation of small businesses in Access contracts. The SBPP also encourages large businesses to subcontract with small businesses by applying the five percent preference to large businesses that subcontract at least 25 percent of their bid to eligible small businesses.

We are confident that the SBPP will boost Access contracting opportunities for small business owners.
